Dear Colleagues and Friends,

On behalf of the European Federation of Psychologists' Associations (EFPA) I heartily welcome you to the XII European Congress of Psychology (ECP2011), taking place in Istanbul, Turkey, on July 4-8, 2011. I am very pleased to see that so many psychologists from Europe as well as other parts of the world are attending this conference and are contributing to the scientific programme. For psychology as a growing discipline and profession, it is particularly encouraging to see the names of many psychologists from the region as well as countries from remote continents in the Congress programme.

From the start, in 1989, European Congress of Psychology has been the place to meet European psychologists and learn about advances in theory and research as well as educational and professional developments in Europe. But as this very programme shows, the Congress is also a global meeting place, where students, scholars and professionals from all parts of the world share knowledge and experiences. I note with pride and satisfaction that this XII Congress has contributors from over seventy countries and a programme that covers all areas of contemporary psychology!

This XII Congress is unique because of its venue. You will agree with me that Istanbul is an excellent place to gather, not only because of its location at the junction of great cultures and its rich history, but also because as a city it symbolizes a diversity of traditions and aspirations, hospitality and friendship, and the value of collaboration for human development.

The Congress is also special because it coincides with EFPA's 30th anniversary. Founded in 1981, to promote co-operation within European psychology and to increase the influence of psychologists in Europe, EFPA has grown into a body that truly represents European psychology in the realms of education, science and profession. EFPA's members are Psychological Associations of 35 European countries with over 300.000 individual members. EFPA is delighted that it can celebrate its birthday in the presence of so many colleagues from all over the world.

On behalf of EFPA I thank the Turkish Psychological Association for organizing the Congress and for providing an environment that promotes collegial exchange and collaboration, and makes all of us feel at home. I also thank the co-sponsors IAAP (International Association of Applied Psychology) and IUPsyS (International Union of Psychological Science) for their support in making this Congress a success.

Prof. Dr. Robert A. Roe

President of the European Federation of Psychologists Associations
Grasmarkt 105/18

Dear Colleagues,

I am delighted to join the European Federation of Psychologists' Association (EFPA) in welcoming you to Istanbul and the XII European Congress on Psychology (ECP 2011). Since its inception, the EFPA has advanced our understanding of human behavior by promoting dialogue, research, critical evaluation, education, sharing of diverse experiences and promoting opportunities for collaboration, generating new ideas, insights and paradigms. We expect nothing less during ECP 2011.

As we advance in this new century and millennium, our challenges remain—as they always will—both old and new. Classical models and techniques need be applied to new contexts. New areas of psychology are growing and find overlap with other field in the human sciences. So too, our world is changing. The fact that over 70 countries are represented at ECP 2011 demonstrates a growing interest in how research and practice in one context or culture can benefit research and practice in another. But this broad representation shows us that while there is a sincere desire to benefit from our differences, there is also something more at stake. In a world where communication and interaction is growing beyond what was thought possible just a short time ago, what is at stake is an urgent need. In this world of rapid change, psychology must rise to the challenge of playing its part to ensure that the human consequences of rapid change are clearly understood and openly evaluated

In selecting Istanbul as host city for ECP 2011, EFPA has chosen an ideal location. As one of the great cross roads of the world, the best of Istanbul's tradition coincides with the spirit of the EFPA and of ECP 2011—exchanging ideas, blending of cultures, and great hospitality. I urge you to take some time to explore some of Istanbul's historic treasures. Timeless architecture, superb art, great religions, extensive commerce all have deep roots here. Take some time to visit at least a few of Istanbul's treasures; Ayasofia, the Blue Mosque, the centuries old jewel and porcelain collections at Topkapi, the Grand Bazaar, the Museum of Islamic Civilizations, the Istanbul Archeological Museum, the Mosaic Museum—to list only a few. You'll not only go away with a deeper sense of the heart of this city, but a deeper sense of the roots of civilizations that over time have left their mark on our world.

The Turkish Psychological Association is proud to have played its part in organizing ECP 2011. Let me repeat. Welcome to Istanbul.

Dr. Nedret Öztan

President, Turkish Psychological Association

Dear Colleagues,

As the president of the Organizing Committee for the XII European Congress of Psychology (ECP 2011), I would like to welcome you all in enchanting Istanbul.

It is our pleasure and pride to see that this congress is unique in many ways. Different from former congresses, ECP 2011 is held for full four days, which gives our participants more opportunity to learn from scholars from all over the world. ECP 2011 also stands out with the number of presentations in the scientific program as well as the number of participants. During these four days, the presentations will be held in 17 different rooms, starting from 08.30 in the morning till 17.45 in the evening. With 36 invited speakers, more than 800 oral presentations and 1700 poster presentations, ECP 2011 received a record level attendance in terms of excellent scientific work. We are proud that ECP 2011 has around 3000 participants from over 70 countries all around the world. The main venue of the congress, the Istanbul Convention & Exhibition Centre (ICEC), is situated in the heart of the city featuring a total of 21 meeting rooms with capacities ranging from 60 to 600 as well as an auditorium with a capacity of 2000 participants. Despite these outstanding facilities of ICEC, the enormous participation to ECP 2011 exceeded the limit of ICEC and we needed to have the Military Museum (next to ICEC) as a second venue.

This congress, ECP 2011, is a product of three years of hard work. We have no doubt of the quality of ECP 2011 when we look at the list of the participants and the quality of the scientific work submitted. In this respect, I would like to thank the members of the Organizing Committee, the Scientific Committee, and Organizing Secretariat Topkon, who have worked for and promoted this congress for years and made this big scale congress possible.

We will try our best to host you in the most comfortable way and hopefully you will have a memorable experience in the imperial city of Istanbul.

A big warm welcome to all of you to the ECP 2011 in Istanbul!

Prof. Dr. Canan Ergin
Organizing Committee Chair

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

As Co-Chairs of the ECP 2011 Scientific Committee, we are delighted to welcome you to Istanbul and to the 12th European Congress of Psychology. This is the first time that the European Congress of Psychology is meeting in Turkey, at Europe's South-East Corner - - symbolizing the reaching out of European psychology. The venue, the inter-continental city of Istanbul, further enhances the expansion symbolism. Having a European psychology congress in this city provides added meaning and congruence to its theme, 'Understanding and Embracing Diversity.' This is an important theme for the future of Europe and of EFPA. In fact, it is a global theme, with borders of countries, regions, even continents becoming blurred and a global human society emerging in the 21st century. Participation of psychologists from over 70 countries in this congress bears witness to this reality.

Psychology must rise up to the expectations and responsibilities involved in this process of globalization. This congress will provide us the opportunity to face challenges and exchange ideas regarding human phenomena which require better understanding and human issues which require better measures and practices for their solutions. Our congress is very promising toward this end with its strikingly rich content. To share some of its distinctive features, we have 17 Key-note presentations, 16 State of the Art presentations, many Invited Symposia and other symposia, and many Round Table Discussions. We have received about 3000 paper and poster submissions from 66 countries and have used a blind review process for their evaluation. All the members of the Scientific Committee worked very hard for bringing together a very full program; we greatly appreciate their commitment and conscientiousness. An even greater appreciation goes to all of you, distinguished participants, for contributing to this ECP 2011 with your best scientific/professional competence. We sincerely hope that you will find the conference intellectually stimulating as well as highly enjoyable. We wish you a memorable time in Istanbul.

The European Federation of Psychologists Associations – EFPA

The congress is organized under the auspices of EFPA. The European Congress of Psychology (ECP) is held every second year followed by the EFPA General Assembly. The next congress, ECP 2013, will be held in Stockholm, Sweden.

EFPA is the leading Federation of National Psychology Associations.

It provides a forum for European cooperation in a wide range of fields of academic training, psychology practice and research.

There are 35 member associations of EFPA representing about 300,000 psychologists.

The member organizations of EFPA are concerned with promoting and improving psychology as a profession and as a discipline, particularly, though not exclusively, in applied settings and with emphasis on the training and research associated with such practice.

The psychologists in the member associations include practitioners as well as academic and research psychologists.

The Federation has as one of its goals the integration of practice with research and the promotion of an integrated discipline of psychology.

Important Information for Presenters

Oral Presentations

Meeting halls will be equipped with PC and Projector. Invited speakers and oral abstract presenters must report to the Speakers' Ready Room at least four hours prior to their presentation in order to check and deposit their presentation. Speakers' Ready Room will both be available in ICEC and Military Museum. Presenters should report their presentations according to the venue their presentation will take place.

All computers in the halls are Windows compatible and MAC based power point presentations are not accepted.

Poster and Hybrid Poster Presentations

Poster presentations will take place in Haliç Hall.

Poster presentations will run for 120 minutes.

No electrical power will be available for posters.

When to hang your poster: Mount your poster on the designated board during the 30 minutes immediately preceding the start of the scheduled poster session.

Your poster must be removed promptly at the end of the session, so that the poster for the next session can be hung on the poster board. Please take your poster and any additional items with you when you leave the poster area.

The poster will be attached to a wall-system (Binder for this purpose will be provided)

Your poster must be complete and ready to hang on the poster board when you arrive for your poster session. ECP 2011 does not provide reproduction or graphic facilities at the meeting.

Hybrid poster session is a dynamic forum among presenters, a facilitator, and the audience. The purpose is to encourage discussion and sharing of multiple perspectives. In the first part of the session, similar to traditional poster sessions, audience members views posters, interacting with the authors. In the second part of the session, each poster presenter gives a 2-3 minute oral presentation. In the third part facilitator leads the audience and authors in an informal discussion of the posters and the broader topical area.

YOU'VE ONLY JUST ARRIVED & ALREADY WE'RE THINKING OF YOUR NEXT TRIP

Scientific Program Information

Oral Presentations

Individual oral presentations must report on the empirical findings of a theoretically driven research project, which can include critically evaluating the empirical findings of others in the form of a meta-analysis or critical review. It is expected from the presenters to allocate time equally between a theoretically driven introduction, methodology and results, and discussion/conclusion. (15 minutes presentation + 5 minutes discussion).

Poster Presentations

Posters are an alternative format for individual, free-standing research presentations. Poster sessions facilitate informal discussions between presenters and their audience, providing a more intimate forum for exchange of information than do regular oral presentations. Successful posters are visually engaging, informative, and easy to understand. In addition to a title/author label and abstract, most successful posters provide brief statements of introduction, method, subjects, procedure, results and conclusions. Final conclusions or summary should leave observers focused on a concise statement of the most important findings. Poster presentations will run for 120 minutes.

Hybrid Posters

A hybrid poster session, which includes eight to ten posters with a common theme, is a dynamic forum among presenters, a facilitator, and the audience. The purpose is to encourage discussion and sharing of multiple perspectives. In the first part of the session, similar to traditional poster sessions, audience members view posters, interacting with the authors. In the second part of the session, each poster presenter gives a 2-3 minute oral presentation. In the third part facilitator leads the audience and authors in an informal discussion of the posters and the broader topical area. Following this discussion, the posters are displayed until the end of the session. Hybrid poster presentation session last for 120 minutes.

Symposium

Symposia are organized and submitted by a chair with an integrative statement and summary of the submitted presentations. Each symposium consists of four-five thematically linked presentations. Symposiums are 90 minute sessions.

Round Table Discussion

In this session type one or two experts on a topic serve as hosts. Although the expert(s) may wish to make a short presentation to begin the session, a significant portion of time should be devoted to answering questions from the audience and promoting discussion. Audience of this session type are attendees who seek help with problems they are currently facing, or would like to learn about the latest developments in an area and/or to develop contacts with people who have similar interests. Round Table sessions last for 60 minutes.

TRACKS

Europlat

(The European Network for Psychology Learning and Teaching): Teaching and Learning in Psychology Track

Organizers: Annie Trapp & Nebi Sümer

Contact: nsumer@metu.edu.tr

This track invites participants to consider issues relating to the teaching and learning of psychology. Papers, panels, posters, symposia and workshops will focus on important and challenging issues in psychology education including research on how we learn, teaching specific areas of psychology, assessment methods, curricular reform, innovative teaching methods, student employability, continuing professional development for psychology educators and support communities such as EUROPLAT.

Keywords:

- Research related to teaching and learning psychology
- Curricular reform and innovation within psychology education
- Student issues in psychology education

Ethics Track

Organizer: Yeşim Korkut

Contact: yesim.korkut@bahcesehir.edu.tr

The aim of the "ethics track" during ECP Istanbul 2011 is to provide participants a chance to follow various presentations in a frame that will take place each day in the same place and time. This frame will enable attendees to follow specific ethics-related discussions that will be presented in a well-organized and coherent fashion. Ideally, presentations in the ethics track will build upon one another and suggest possibilities for future collaboration. The main goals are to:

- Examine the development and revision of ethics codes in various nations and cultures;
- Compare and contrast models of ethical decision-making;
- Explore how ethics is taught in psychology training programs throughout the world;
- Consider ethical aspects of specific practice areas such as supervision tele-health, neuroethics;
- Address the responsible conduct of research, and in particular the role of review boards, for psychological research conducted by psychologists from other countries;
- Examine special ethical challenges and opportunities of indigenous peoples;
- Explore the ethical aspects of psychologists responding to humanitarian disasters in all areas of the world; and
- Examine region-specific issues that arise in diverse areas such as North America, the EFPA countries and the Balkans, South and Central America, and Asia and Australia.

This track is designed so that both participants and attendees will gain a greater appreciation for the ethical practice of psychology in all nations and cultures.

Keywords:

- Ethical Code Development
- Cross-cultural practice and ethical issues
- Teaching ethics and ethical decision-making
- Indigenous approaches to ethics
- Universalising ethical codes of practice

Testing touches everyone at some time in their life - it may be for work, for school, for health or for leisure related reasons. Without doubt it is through tests and testing that psychology has its most widespread impact on people's lives. Following the success of the Tests and Testing stream at the 2009 EFPA Congress, the International Test Commission and EFPA's Standing Committee on Tests and Testing are again working together to promote a separate strand of papers, symposia and other events on the theme of Tests and Testing for the Istanbul Congress in 2011.

Keywords:

- Test use standards and qualification
- Evaluating test quality
- Advances in measurement techniques
- Testing applications

The program is organized by day, timeslot, venue and meeting room.
Poster sessions are placed at the end of each day's program.
Please note that Poster and Hybrid Poster sessions will take place in ICEC – Halic Hall.

The different venues are highlighted in different colours:
